

Movie_Title: Sa Bang-ji

Movie_ID : 585032

Synopsis: SaBangji was an intersex person who according to historical records lived during Korea's Joseon Dynasty. Taken in by a kindly benefactor, SaBangji lives in a monastery that is one day visited by a young widow Lee So-sa who is in mourning following the death of her husband. The pair's meeting seems predestined with the erotic attraction between SaBangji and Lee So-sa soon evolving into something far more transcendent and dangerous. While aspects of the film's stylised depiction of female actors and sex identify it as a product of its time, SaBangji is undeniably a milestone in screen representations of intersex people: a film that refuses to shy away from the horrendous stigmatization faced by its titular character.