

Movie_Title: The Shrinking Man

Movie_ID : 1233506

Synopsis: Paul is an ordinary man who divides his life between his shipbuilding company his wife Elise and their daughter Mia During a sea trip Paul finds himself confronted with a strange unexplained meteorological phenomenon From then on Paul shrinks inexorably without science being able to explain why or be of any help to him When by accident he finds himself a prisoner in his own cellar and while he is only a few centimeters tall he will have to fight to survive in this banal environment that has become perilous During this experience Paul will find himself confronted with himself with his humanity and will try to answer the great questions of existence